

Particularity and Pluralism

How Do the Different Religions Approach Religious Diversity?

Beatty 115, Nov. 15, 2016 @ 3:30

With Dr. Charles Kimball

The major religious traditions are based on foundational truth claims. While many faithful adherents—Jews, Christians, Muslims, Hindus, Buddhists—understand their truth claims as exclusive in ways that render other religions false, many others affirm a more inclusive approach. This lecture and Q&A will examine the diverse ways contemporary people of faith within these major religions articulate ways to frame their particular truth claims in the context of religious diversity and pluralism.