

LITE Workshops@Addlestone

Literacy, Information, Technology, and Education

Not a Techie? Don't Worry! Our Classes are for Everyone!

For more information visit blogs.cofc.edu/LITE

Special LITE Guest Star Megan Holt AmeriCorps VISTA for the College of Charleston Center for Civic Engagement Presents:

RU Ready to Facebook!

Are you already on Facebook? Do YOU want to be one of College of Charleston's Officially Recognized Social Media Sites?

Creating a Facebook Page for your class or department can be the next step to help you better connect.

Join us for a hands-on workshop where you can create or enhance your current Facebook page. Have an account? Bring it with you!

Thursday, March 25
Addlestone Library, Rm. 120
3 – 4:30pm

REGISTER TODAY for Thursday's session at 3pm!

Want to know what's next? Visit our Spring 2010 Schedule!
blogs.cofc.edu/LITE

A bit about Megan for your files:
Upon completion of her Masters in Mass Communications at the University of South Carolina, Megan has committed one year of her life to volunteer service through the AmeriCorps VISTA program at the College of Charleston. Here she uses her communication and event planning skills to rally college students to step off their college campus and make an impact in the Charleston community. Megan attended Baylor University as a Founders' Baylor Scholar where she worked as an assistant for Baylor Athletic Media Relations and spent time as the Director of Press and Public Relations for the Waco Wranglers and as an intern at the Dwyer Group and received her BA in Journalism and Corporate Communications.

Sponsored by:
College of Charleston Libraries
Friends of the Library
Center for Student Learning
Language Resource Center

"Congratulations! It was not boring; there was no lingo language."

"Keep scheduling the classes."