Dear President Barack Obama,

My name is Solal and I'm in 5th grade. I'm writing to you because I have a good idea to help change classrooms. In my opinion, there should be two teachers in every classroom. At my school every class has two teachers. We call this "Team Teaching."

Like I mentioned, Dwight has two teachers in every classroom. I think it's working. If one teacher is sick or something there would be the other teacher. And if a teacher is bad at something the other teacher can be good at it.

Now I have some questions to ask you: Was it hard to become a President? Is it easy or hard to make the right decision? Why you did wanted to be a President? Do you have time to play with your children's? That all the questions. Thank you for taking the time to read my letter,

Sincerely,

Solal Papillard
