

After Montag reads some of the books, he knew that Beatty knows Montag has one book, not more. So he has to hand only one book back to Beatty. But before he does he remembers an old professor named Faber that he had met before, the professor had books and even memorized them, but Montag never wanted to meet him to make a copy of the books before he hands them back. Pg. 5