

Are You a Renaissance Humanist?

---

INDIVIDUALISM

Individualism is about emphasizing the moral worth of the individual. During the Renaissance, many humanists and thinkers prized individual achievement more than their class or family. The individualism brought numerous changes during the Renaissance and altered people's perspective on the world.

Rate:

3.7/5

---

Art & Education

During the Renaissance, the rebirth of art and education led to remarkable inventions that are still inspiring innumerable modern artists. It made people consider that learning and finding new information about the world was momentous and was the route to turn their life more enjoyable.

Rate:

4.5/5

SECULARISM

Thoughts of humanists during the Renaissance went through a dynamic mutation and were differentiated from the past. And one alternation that was unconventional was their thoughts about religion. Thinkers inaugurated not to value religion as much as they did in the past and considered religion as a topic in a world. However, they did not deny religion. In fact, there were still a lot of religious thinkers during the Renaissance.

Rate:

4/5

---

DISCOVERIES

Numerous impressive artists, writers, and thinkers such as Leonardo da Vinci and Michelangelo made tremendous discoveries during the Renaissance. And those discoveries like the printing press stimulated and incited others and societies to disseminate the idea of humanism to other places in the world. In addition, findings of ancient Greek and Latin writings provided impressions for a new way of thinking to philosophers and thinkers.

Rate:

3/5

AM I A RENAISSANCE HUMANIST?

I am 76% Renaissance Humanist.