Growing a Firm’s Resource Base Over Time

Michael L. Pettus, Susquehanna University

ABSTRACT

A topic of interest is how firms grow over time. This topic is of interest to academic scholars and practitioners. The topic is becoming an area of research as we move further away from the global recession. Firm growth has two primary components, (1) how do firms grow in changing environmental conditions, and (2) how do firms maintain growth over time. The role of growth of this paper is how acquisitions impact firm growth.
