Workplace Bullying: A Growing Epidemic
Alison E. Wall, Southern Connecticut State University
Robert A. Smith, Southern Connecticut State University
Omid Nodoushani, Southern Connecticut State University

ABSTRACT

In recent years, there has been a growing awareness of workplace bullying as a major occupational risk for both employee and employer. The intent of this research paper is to provide an awareness of the growing epidemic in the United States by including supportive research documenting the negative impact on employees and employers alike. Additionally, the need for supplemental policies and laws to ensure stronger governance, resulting in healthier, more productive, and safer workplaces will be demonstrated.

Keywords: Bullying, Emotional Distress, Human resources, Employment law, Worker Safety