

You do not ask each other names until the eyes are revealed middle piece is removed more questions larger amounts questions written on here

View obstructed by pieces

The goal is to reveal the most of the face eye contact through both left sides answer questions they're prompted to ask one another

Can be pretty general → like small talk at first how are you? you have any pets? but they get progressively stranger what are you most insecure about? what's the last dream you vividly remember? when was the last time you were entirely alone what is your worst injury? how many significant others have you had?
who do you love the most?
You cannot answer the questions in First Person