

Empty Space implies a grey ~~error~~ area ↳ unknown silent intent

an area that is Simple → something void allows for human is the most brain to project simple state itself onto the ~~the~~ of space as space it can simply be described as nothing

the simpler the area the easier it is for the psyche to proliferate feelings or "hunches" about the setting an area can have tension due to the perception

↳ especially other individuals that inhabit it.

Projected between the individuals ↳ additionally the idea of a "personal area" or bubble

~~and has~~ factor is the ratio of space of ~~implies the~~ harkens back to or primitive but still relevant idea of spatial safety in unsure situations → the preserving or violation of this space implies a lot to instinct maintain or consensual entry to the space