

AMP_{ed} STAR

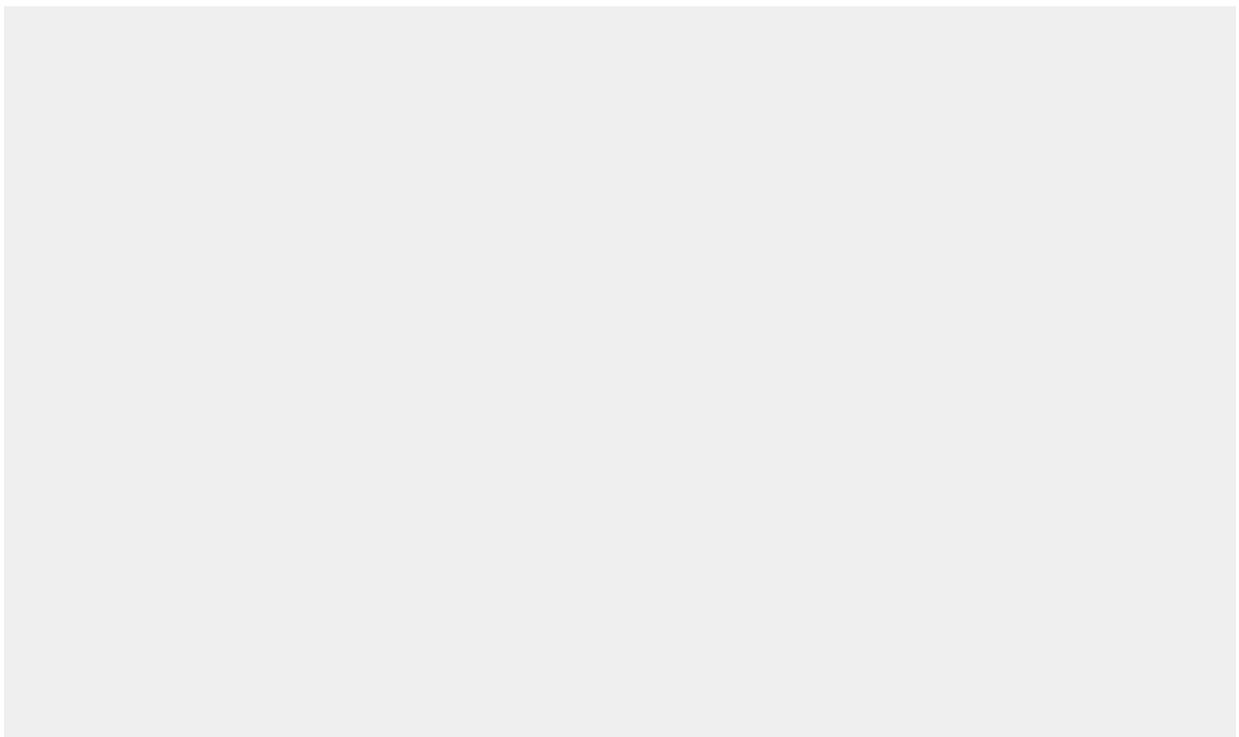

Situation: What is the current condition that you wish to improve upon?

Tell me what you have seen that really interests you enough to investigate further. (e.g. What do you want to learn? Solve? Change? Improve?)

Task: What is it that you want to do regarding the above situation? What will your final project look like?

Tell me how you want to approach your situation. What does your final project/build/writing look like? (Start small. This may require you to look up(research) first to find a small task you are able to accomplish on your own. Use your brainstorming tools!)

Action: What are the steps that you need to do in order to reach your task? This is the time to plan out what you will need to do. The steps will probably change as you get started. That is okay; it's part of the process. Plan every step and when you commit to being done. We want to see your awesomeness and brilliant self-driven project by early May.

Connection to an expert(s) in your interest field, e.g: chef, lead singer of a band, lawyer, programmer, or photographer. This all depends on your task you are trying to complete. Start by having a chat with friends or peers in your advisory and see how you will go about speaking to this expert, via finding them on social media or speaking to a teacher. Finally use the THINK procedure to make sure your expert is legitimate. You should always cross check with an adult if you are not sure.

Action	Due Date

Action

Due Date

Collaborator
Who Profession
How (ie email)
Location

Results: Please please, document what you are doing when you are working on your AMPed project. This is your Results. Please show your process and progress via share site through Edublogs, story telling App (Storehouse, Evernote). This would include screen shots, videos, photographs. Or you may also record your whole process. Add any notes that you take from your expert or time in advisory. It's going to be awesome! You know why? Because you are awesome and we want to see your awesomeness.