

Lester Mackey

Title: Doing Some Good with Machine Learning

Abstract: This is the story of my assorted attempts to do some good with machine learning. Through its telling, I'll highlight several models of organizing social good efforts, describe half a dozen social good problems that would benefit from our community's attention, and present both resources and challenges for those looking to do some good with ML.