Tips for parents, families and other engaged adults

1. Reading is important all year long -- and it's especially important during the summer months to prevent summer learning loss, which occurs when kids backslide instead of retaining the knowledge they've acquired the previous school year.
2. Research shows that children read more when they can choose the books they want to read, and when they receive encouragement from the adults in their lives.
3. myON makes it easy to read with kids. Read to them. Have them read to you. Or turn on the audio and listen together as the book is being read to you.
4. Talk with kids about the books they are reading.
5. If there's a suggested activity at the end of the book, consider doing it together.
