

Default Question Block

Below, please indicate D&I training materials that your program: 1) has access to and is willing to share with other programs, 2) any materials that your program does not have but could benefit from, and 3) materials listed that your program has no interest in, or would not be applicable.

Dissemination research* is the systematic study of processes and factors that lead to widespread use of an evidence-based intervention by the target population. Its focus is to identify the best methods that enhance the uptake and utilization of the intervention.

Implementation research* seeks to understand the processes and factors that are associated with successful integration of evidence-based interventions within a particular setting (e.g., a worksite or school). Implementation research assesses whether the core components of the original intervention were faithfully transported to the real-world setting (i.e., the degree of fidelity of the disseminated and implemented intervention with the original study) and is also concerned with the adaptation of the implemented intervention to the local context.

*NOTE: While certain materials may seem applicable only to your site (e.g. local practica sites, speakers, cross-program collaboration) they could serve as potential frameworks for development in other institutions.

Local community training experiences that incorporate features of D&I (e.g., local practica sites, seminars, conferences that focus on D&I)	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Fidelity measures (e.g., therapy adherence measures or coding paradigms)	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Teaching materials on psychometrically-based methodologies for measuring fidelity and implementation (e.g., mixed methods, dynamical systems analyses)	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Webcasts/podcasts of discussions or lectures on D&I	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Partial or comprehensive list of academic journals that highlight D&I research	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Comprehensive examination related materials (e.g., exam questions, specific domains of D&I to include, interdisciplinary examples of D&I)	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Arranging colloquia with professionals on D&I (e.g., policymakers, economics experts, local community mental health providers, NIMH leadership, researchers)	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Centralized listing of available funding opportunities in D&I research	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Resources for developing cross-institutional collaborations researching D&I (e.g., context of a particular treatment, education, policy work)	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Access to, or development of, technological tools utilized for treatment implementation (e.g., CALM computer-assisted CBT, PE Coach- t2 health, other smartphone-based mood tracking programs)	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Software specific to the development of measurement and analysis of D&I research	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

Are there other resources that relate to dissemination and implementation science that your program has access to or could use?

Please list the methods you feel would be most helpful to share information we learn from other programs about D&I resources (e.g., website, secured portal, listserv).

The Delaware Project Leadership Committee currently includes graduate students and we are interested in identifying additional graduate students who would be willing to assist with the Project. Graduate students working on the Project will contribute to the development and implementation of the Project's training goals, as well as facilitate cross-program sharing of training resources.

Name a graduate student who may be interested in assisting in the organization/sharing of the above-mentioned materials (Please indicate "None" if no representative is available)
