Needs-Based Scholarship Application

The CBC provides scholarships to qualified undergraduate students who demonstrate high levels of both financial need and academic performance. Need levels are determined by the Office of Student Financial Services, and merit is based on a weighted GPA (depending on the number of semesters completed at UD). Recipients usually have a combination of both high need and strong GPA (3.0 or above in most cases). Awards typically range from $250 to $500 and can only be used toward the current or next academic semester. Undergraduate students must have been enrolled at the University of Delaware for at least TWO semesters prior to the award. Applicants must be enrolled in a minimum of 12 undergraduate hours. In some instances, entering students may qualify for scholarships.
