

Research Working Groups Application

CRE² sponsors Research Working Groups (RWGs) to support research on questions of race and ethnicity. The goal of RWGs is to incubate and generate intellectual exchange, facilitate deeper and broader understandings of the research topic, and catalyze innovative ideas about the research area. RWGs may be designed to explore potential collaborations among the group members, e.g., for grants, monographs, anthologies, or conferences; to gain a foothold on the current state of a field and potential research, data, and knowledge gaps; to deepen understanding of and develop new vocabularies for current issues or scholarly literatures; or to do preliminary work in order to design a larger CRE² proposal.

CRE² sponsors two kinds of RWGs. The first are CRE² initiated, based on topical themes that are updated biennially. The second are Scholar initiated.

CRE² will provide RWGs financial support and meeting space. This includes:

- Assistance in securing a physical space in which the working group can convene;
- Support for reasonable expenses up to $2,000 including reading materials, photocopies, refreshments, assistance in publicizing the RWG deliverables;
- Up to $500 for a graduate student coordinator to assist with RWG coordination. Graduate students may be asked to: reserve rooms; schedule meetings; acquire materials; and provide research support. RWGs must follow University guidelines regarding the hourly rate for graduate students.

Eligibility:

- Any CRE² Faculty Affiliate may apply for an RWG. The composition of the team is set out below. Postdocs, graduate and professional students, and trainees are welcome to apply with a Faculty Affiliate sponsor.
- The RWGs may include part-time faculty at Washington University; students, postdocs, and trainees at Washington University; non-Washington University faculty and students; and St. Louis community members. A proposed list of RWG members will be submitted with the application and a final list with the final report.
- RWGs may be renewed one time, by demonstrating outcomes and submitting the requisite paperwork.

Composition: At least 3 people, one of must be a CRE² Faculty Affiliate at the time of the application, although preference may be given to more robust groups. Groups may also include students, faculty members from other institutions, non-academic researchers and practitioners, and community members. The individuals who submit the application will be responsible for managing the group and submitting requisite updates and documentation.

Structure: RWGs would ideally meet twice a month, at a minimum once a month, for at least one semester. The group may continue for two semesters, after which groups may reapply for working group status up to one time.

RWG END OF YEAR REPORT

- An end-of year 1-page report that details the groups' goals and accomplishments that will be included in the CRE² archives and will help us evaluate our Research Working Group initiative
 - Did you accomplish your stated goals? Why or why not?
 - How did the RWG evolve?
 - What did you find most beneficial about the RWG?
 - What did you find most difficult or the least valuable about the RWG? Please provide a detailed budget proposal for how funds will be used (e.g. modest honoraria to defray a speaker's travel expense, film rental, food, etc.)
- A 200-word end-of-year summary showcasing RWG outcomes for the CRE² website
