If we want to hide the field of “Signature of Person Who Obtained Consent”, we can use @HIDDEN-SURVEY to hide from the participants who received the e-consent. This action tag will hide a variable in surveys. It can still be used in other situations like when accessing the instrument as a user or via the mobile app. The e-consent form has to be enabled as survey so you can distribute it via email. See below.

In this way, the instrument will be hidden from the participant who receives the e-consent but will be displayed for normal REDCap users. Make sure to give your users(staff) permission to edit surveys, so they can also sign on the e-consent after the participant signed the form. This action tag will not affect the RedCap users who open the form from RedCap.
