

Buder Center Consultation Services

The Buder Center Consultation Services is committed to providing high-quality, culturally grounded resources to organizations servicing American Indian/Alaska Native (AI/AN) communities.

HISTORY: The Kathryn M. Buder Center for American Indian Studies is a premier graduate degree scholarship program located within Washington University in St Louis' Brown School of Social Work. Since 1990 the Buder Center has educated and trained AI/AN scholars who provide health-related services and conducts research directly impacting AI/AN communities across the U.S. We prepare future AI/AN leaders to practice in tribal and urban settings, making significant contributions to the overall health and wellness in these communities.

OVERVIEW: The mission of the Buder Center Consultation Services is to support tribal and other organizations who are providing services to AI/AN communities. Our experienced staff and students can help you successfully reach your service goals.

CONSULTATION SERVICES: We take a collaborative and unified approach that will best support your overall mission to conduct high-quality research, program evaluation, program outcomes activities and training & technical assistance.

RESEARCH

- General planning and consultation
- Grant writing
- Applied research

PROGRAM EVALUATION

- Strategic planning
- System and service(s) evaluation
- Contracted evaluator

PROGRAM OUTCOMES

- Qualitative and quantitative survey data
- Data management and collection
- Data analysis and interpretation

TRAINING & TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE

- Workshops and seminars
- Peer-to-peer interactions
- Coaching and mentoring

Kellie Thompson, Director
Wynette Whitegoat, Assistant Director
David Patterson, Director of Research

If you are interested in any of the consultation services listed please contact Kellie Thompson at kellie.thompson@wustl.edu.

