"Missouri" is a Siouan Indian word. It comes from the tribal name Missouria, which means "big canoe people."7a

“We, the great mass of the people think only of the love we have for our land, we do love the land where we were brought up. We will never let our hold to this land go, to let it go it will be like throwing away (our) mother that gave (us) birth.”

-Letter from Aitooweyah to John Ross, Principal Chief of the Cherokees

“The ground on which we stand is sacred ground, it is the blood of our ancestors.”

-Chief Plenty Coups, Crow

Statements of Acknowledgment

1. Adapted from Knowing the Land Beneath Our Feet:

   We would like to acknowledge that the Kathryn M. Buder Center for American Indian Studies and the Washington University are located on the traditional, ancestral, and unceded territory of the Illini* Confederacy. We thank the Illini people for their hospitality and support of our work.

2. Adapted from Knowing the Land Beneath Our Feet:

   The process of knowing and acknowledging the ground beneath our feet is a way of honoring and expressing gratitude for the people on this land before us. It familiarizes students, instructors, faculty, staff, and visitors with Missouri’s indigenous tribes’ cultures, histories, and relations on the Washington University campus and within the St. Louis region.

3. Adaptations from Honor Native Land\(^{10}\):
   a. “I’d like to get started by acknowledging the indigenous culture of Missouri.”
   b. “We acknowledge that we are on the traditional lands of the Illini People”
   c. “I would like to acknowledge that this [meeting] is being held on the traditional lands of the Illini People, and pay my respect to elders both past and present”
   d. “I want to respectfully acknowledge the Illini People, who have stewarded this land throughout the generations”
   e. “We would like to begin by acknowledging that the land on which we gather is the occupied/unceded/seized territory of the Illini People.”
   f. “I would like to begin by acknowledging that we are in St. Louis, the ancestral and unceded territory of the Illini People.”

*Pronounced “ih-LIE-nee”
American Indians in Missouri Timeline

Prehistoric Period

950 – 1050 A.D. Emergence of Mississippian culture (John Kelly)

600–1400 CE Native American descendants consecrate this landscape a millennium ago and the Prehistoric Mississippian community of Cahokia is formed

1600’s and 1700’s Early Claims and Initial Contact

Pre-1673 Missouria and Osage tribes hunted in the St. Louis area and probably have an earlier claim to area than the Illini.

1673 Indians of the Illini Confederacy occupied the St. Louis area predominantly - includes Cahokia, Kaskaskia, Michigamea, Moingwena, Peoria, Tamaroa Confederacy migrated to St. Louis from area around Lake Michigan approx. 1573 because they were driven out by Iroquois.

1607 English Settlers first arrived at Chesapeake area, now Virginia (crash course)

1644 American Indians in Virginia sign treaty consigning them to reservations in the West (crash course)

1667 King Philip's War in Northeast (crash course)

1673 First European (French) contact in St. Louis area

1700 Indian-European settlement formed at mouth of River Des Peres (Kaskaskia & Tamaroa)

1703 Indian-European settlement moved to East side of Mississippi river

1763 France ceded the Missouri area to Spain.

1764 French fur traders founded St. Louis.

1800 Spain returned the region to France.

1803 France sold Missouri to the U.S. as part of the Louisiana Purchase.

Pre L & C: Southern Sioux tribes live along the Missouri River near the present-day Missouri, Kansas, and Nebraska border (University of Missouri)
1800’s Indian Removal to reservations

1804  Osage delegation visits President Jefferson in Washington, D.C. in the spring

1804  Corps of Discovery by Lewis & Clark (L & C)

May 1804:  L & C begin ascending the Missouri river

June 15 1804:  Arrive at Little Osage prior settlement

July 1804:  L & C expedition encountered the towns of the Missouris and Otos

August 2 1804:  Small group of Missouris and Otos arrive at L & C’s camp site (Council Bluff)

August 3, 1804:  Ceremony is held in which L&C promise to provide the tribes with trade and protection

August 18, 1804:  L & C meet with Missouri chief, Big Horse, and main Oto chief, Little Thief (University of Missouri)

1805  Missouri chief and Little Thief met and have delegation with President Jefferson in Washington, D.C. in March

1808  The Great and Little bands of the Osage Nation were forced to sign Cession 67 on November 10th, which ceded 52.5 million acres of Missouri and Arkansas. In exchange, the US government gave them $1200 in cash and $1500 in merchandise.

1821  Missouri becomes a state on August 10th (7a)

1830  Illini forced removal (University of Missouri)

1830  The Indian Removal Act passed by President Andrew Jackson on May 28th

Tribes who traveled through Missouri during Indian forced removals:

- The Cherokee tribe
- The Delaware tribe
- The Kickapoo tribe
- The Sac and Fox tribe
- The Shawnee tribe

1832  Worchester V. Georgia (court case that sided with American Indians overruled)
1837  Osage Indians ceded land.\textsuperscript{7a}

1870  Osage purchase new land in Oklahoma, including subsurface mineral rights\textsuperscript{3}

1881  Otoe-Missouria nation removal to Oklahoma\textsuperscript{7b}

1944  Pick-Sloan Flood Control Act of 1944 passed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt (Article: Indian Country Today, 2011)
- Transferred ownership of large parcels of land from around the Missouri River to the Corps of Engineers, more than 20% of which was owned by Native Americans (Lakota, Dakota and Nakota) (Wiki)
- Forced 1,500 American Indians from basin tribes to relocate due to flooding (Wiki)

2008  Missouri River Recovery Implementation Committee (MRRIC) established

Current  Northern Cherokee Nation of the Old Louisiana Territory- band is the only tribe in Missouri today (not federally recognized)
Figure 1: Six Tribes whose homeland was in the area of what is now called Missouri.
Note: The Illini are just a small strip in the upper right. Much too much area shown here. Should be 1/3 the current width and 1/6th the height. Additionally, there were no Chickasaw at the early dates.

Figure 2: Map depicting the routes taken during the Trail of Tears.
References

2Din, G. and Nasatir A. (1983) The Imperial Osages, University of Oklahoma Press, Norman, OK.

3Duncan, J. (personal communication, 2017)

7aUniversity of Missouri (n.d.). Missouri Historical Timeline. Retrieved from https://peacestudies.missouri.edu/di/timeline

8University of Missouri (n.d.). Seven Tribes of Missouri. Retrieved from https://peacestudies.missouri.edu/di/tribes
