

Pre-Event Planning Questions to Consider

Student Involvement and Leadership ♦ getinvolved.wustl.edu  Washington University in St. Louis.

In order to plan a successful event, it is helpful to understand why you are planning the event, what is involved in planning the event, and how the event aligns with your organization's purpose. In addition, it is useful to have a place where all of the details of your event are written down to make sure that you do not forget anything, and to document planning steps so that future students can utilize information that you leave behind. This list of questions to consider will serve as a resource for you to understand your purpose for programming, what you were hoping to accomplish, and will provide history for the future of your student group.

Post-Event Evaluation

Student Involvement and Leadership ♦ getinvolved.wustl.edu  Washington University in St. Louis.

As soon as possible after your event occurs, it is very beneficial to sit down with everyone who was involved with the event to evaluate the execution of the event and the performance of your organization. Post-event evaluation reports are useful tools to pass on to future members of your organization. This form will help you evaluate your event and is complementary to the Pre-Event Planning Questions to Consider. (REQUIRED OF EVENTS WITH ALCOHOL.)
