Now that we are experiencing warmer, sunnier weather, the memories of a rather dreary and chilly February are fading! Not that Morning Bear Trackers didn’t find the silver lining in EVERYTHING. When it was too cold to go outside, the children decided to play with the “Beach” prop box and had a good time dressing a teddy bear for a day near the ocean. Play-doh sculptures took on a definite “dreaming of spring” look.

Our “Letter of the Day” board continues to inspire art and phonics play. We will soon be back at the beginning of the alphabet (again), and the children are already brainstorming about “A” words.

Until next time,
Ms. Colleen
