

WE DON'T TRAIN TEACHERS — WE TRAIN GREAT TEACHERS

Indianapolis Teaching Fellows develops talented people into exceptional teachers for Indianapolis students.

WHO WE ARE

Operated by TNTP, a national leader in advancing great teaching, Indianapolis Teaching Fellows has trained over 600 teachers since 2007. Fellows come from all walks of life and learn to teach critical subjects such as Math, Science, Special Education, and Spanish.

Every day, Fellows change lives. Our teachers develop the skills to help students build their knowledge by making meaningful connections between challenging content and students' unique values and experiences.

WHAT WE OFFER

Immersive Classroom Practice: Our innovative training emphasizes actual teaching experience and focused practice on the core skills you'll need to help make challenging content relevant and engaging for all your students.

Certification That Counts: When you earn your certification with Indianapolis Teaching Fellows, you get more than just a piece of paper: you get the confidence that comes from knowing you're ready to make a strong start in your classroom—and a lifetime of difference for your students.

Full Salary and Benefits: Teaching Fellows can earn their teaching certification while being eligible for a full teacher's salary and benefits.

WHO WE WANT

We look for accomplished professionals and recent graduates who aren't yet licensed as educators, but who possess the skills to teach high-need subjects.

- Must have bachelor's degree by June 1, 2021
- Must be authorized to work in the U.S.
- Must not be a licensed teacher
- Must have a minimum 3.0 cumulative undergraduate GPA*

* Exceptions may be granted to candidates with at least a 2.50 GPA plus five years of relevant professional experience, or a graduate degree.

"The support during my first year was incredible. I'm not going to say it was easy; it's the hardest thing I've ever done. But the program prepares you to be ready even when you think you're not."

— Brent Freeman
ITF alumnus
