Dear Agricultural Educator, Lender or Consultant,

Each year Extension Educators in Ohio receive questions about cash rental rates for buildings used for livestock production and storage of crops and machinery. Landowners and tenants would benefit from knowing what typical rental rates are for various structures and facilities when developing farm lease agreements. We would like your help with a new survey being carried out by Extension farm management specialists in the north central region of the U.S.

If you have clients who are renting livestock facilities, storage structures or rural housing from an owner, or who own such facilities and are renting them to farm operators, please forward the message below to them (you may delete the top portion of this message). We are asking them to complete our on-line survey by going to the following link: Farm Building Lease Survey. Your name or the respondent’s name will not be connected to the information provided in any way. Results of the survey will be posted at http://aglease101.org/. Survey deadline is January 31.

Thank you very much for your assistance.

Sincerely,
William Edwards

Dear farm operator or owner,

Each year Extension Educators in Ohio receive questions about cash rental rates for buildings used for livestock production and storage of crops and machinery. Landowners and tenants would benefit from knowing what typical rental rates are for various structures and facilities when developing farm lease agreements. We would like your help with a new survey being carried out by Extension farm management specialists in the north central region of the U.S.

If you are renting livestock facilities, storage structures or rural housing from an owner, or own such facilities and are renting them to farm operators, please take a few minutes to complete our on-line survey by going to the following link: Farm Building Lease Survey. The questionnaire is structured so that you can branch directly to the questions that relate to the particular type of building for which you have rental information. Your name will not be connected to the information provided in any way. Results of the survey will be posted at http://aglease101.org/. Survey deadline is January 31.

Thank you very much for your assistance.

Sincerely,
