End users of beef products, including Tyson Foods and Wendy’s are now starting to require producers of that beef to have Beef Quality Assurance Training. They have both announced beginning in 2019 cattle they purchase must originate from producers and feedyards who are Beef Quality Assurance (BQA) certified. Therefore many stockyards and buyers are requiring this training for beef producers who sell to them.

Ohio State University Extension, the Ohio Beef Council, the Ohio Cattlemen’s Association and Ohio’s cattle auction markets and collection points are working together to offer BQA trainings in Ohio. Certification lasts for three years. Producers may take an in-person class or complete the training online at bqa.org.

Location: OSU Extension Washington County, 202 Davis Avenue, Marietta OH 45750
Cost: Free
Details: Tuesday, June 18, 2019, 7 to 8 PM
Contact Information: Marcus McCartney, OSU Extension: 740-376-7431, mccartney.138@osu.edu
Website: Washington.osu.edu

Class size is limited to 20 People.

Complete registration, detach and mail to: OSU Ext. Wash. Co., Attn: Peg, 202 Davis Ave., Marietta OH 45750 or call our office at 740-376-7431 to let us know you will be attending.

Name (s) ____________________________________________________________

Address ____________________________________________________________

City _____________________________ State _________ Zip_________ Day Phone: ___________________

Email ____________________________________________________________

Marcus McCartney
Extension Educator ANR

CFAES provides research and related educational programs to clientele on a nondiscriminatory basis.
For more information: go.osu.edu/cfaesdiversity. “The Ohio State University, The United States Department of Agriculture and Washington County Commissioners Cooperating.”