

Questioning Science in Uncertain Times

 Registration Open **

February 15-16, 2018
Ohio State University

Keynote speakers: Rayvon Fouché (American Studies, Purdue University) and Shobita Parthasarathy (Public Policy and Women's Studies, University of Michigan)

In addition to the two keynote speakers, our workshop will feature 11 contributed papers that address the theme of the workshop: how should scholars working in STS and allied fields approach science and technology in these “uncertain” times? See the website below for more details.

We welcome participation from anyone interested in the topics of the workshop. Registration is free, but we ask all participants to register in advance.

To register, please send an email to Christopher Pincock, one of the workshop co-organizations, at chrisspincock@gmail.com.

Organizers: Monamie Bhadra (Comparative Studies) & Christopher Pincock (Philosophy)
Supported by the Science and Technology Studies Initiative.

For more information: <https://u.osu.edu/questioningscience/>