NPP by the numbers
10 Years
2008-2018

Sarah J. Schoppe-Sullivan & Claire M. Kamp Dush
Acknowledgments

- NSF CAREER 0746548 (Schoppe-Sullivan)
- K01 HD 056238 (Kamp Dush)
- R24 HD 058484 to OSU’s Institute for Population Research
- OSU’s Crane Center for Early Childhood Research & Policy
- Coca-Cola Critical Difference Fund
- Graduate and undergraduate students
- The participating families and children!
10 Years of NPP
2008-2018

Scope

- 60,672 hours of family life via time diary
- 1,962 hours of surveys about family life
- 353 hours of family life via observations
Research

- > 25 published articles and chapters
- > 75 conference presentations
- > 500 total citations:
  - Bartholomew, Schoppe-Sullivan, et al. (2012) = 125
  - Zvara, Schoppe-Sullivan, & Kamp Dush (2013) = 62
  - Kotila, Schoppe-Sullivan, & Kamp Dush (2013) = 55

All top-cited NPP articles:
- first-authored by graduate students
- published in NCFR journals
Education

- 10 master’s theses or dissertations
- 10 senior theses
- 2 SROP projects
- > 100 students have gained research experience on NPP
Public scholarship

The New York Times

The Parenting Trap: Why You Shouldn’t Care What Others Think of How You Raise Your Kids

Take a load off, Mom and Dad: pressuring yourself to be perfect parents isn’t always helpful

By Bonnie Rochman @brochman | Jan. 03, 2012

TIME

The Problem With Wanting to Know Your Baby’s Sex Before Birth

By ELIANA DOCKTERMAN | June 3, 2014

The Atlantic

Study: After Giving Birth, New Moms Spend More Time on Facebook

By HANS VILLARICA | Jun 19, 2012

CNN

Maternal gatekeeping: Why moms don't let dads help

By Elissa Strauss, CNN

© Updated 11:36 AM ET, Wed December 6, 2017
The next 10 years…

• Analyze 7-year follow-up data
  • Early parenting $\rightarrow$ child self-regulation
  • Early parenting $\rightarrow$ work and gender attitudes

• Recoding of parent-child interactions using father-centric coding systems
  (w/Eric Olofson, Wabash College)

• Qualitative analysis of family interactions
  (w/Daniel Puhlman, University of Maine)

• Make data publically available
Please visit https://u.osu.edu/schoppesullivan/new-parents-project/ for NPP history and updates!