

The Methodological Colloquium Series

The Methodological Colloquium is back by popular demand!!!

This year we plan to host 26 presentations over the course of the 2016/2017 academic year. The forum is designed to provide graduate students, postdoctoral students, faculty, and research scientists the opportunity to present their ongoing research. Our desire is for the presentations to center on the methodological and analytical features of conducting research and evaluation rather than on actual findings. We are looking to host both quantitative and qualitative presentations. Innovations in theory, methods, or application are highly desired. Please encourage your graduate students to attend or give a presentation and consider making one yourself. We would love to learn more about the research methods used by our colleagues.

The colloquium will be held each Friday at 12-1 PM in room 136 Ramseyer Hall from August 26 to April 21. Attendance is open to all OSU faculty, students, and staff.

The Methodological Colloquium Series is sponsored by the Quantitative Research, Evaluation, and Measurement program, the Research Methodology Center, and the QREM student organization

Refreshments will be served. Email Dr. Gugiu (gugiu.2@osu.edu) if you wish to present your work at the Methodological Colloquium.
