OVERVIEW / INTRODUCTION

- Gentrification and Displacement patterns and studies in the San Francisco Bay Area
- Positionality & Bias
- Creative Placemaking
OBJECTIVES AND VALUES

1. Learn about creative placemaking from case studies and current research

2. Learn about the historical context and implications of gentrification & displacement as it relates to the nonprofit arts and cultural sector

3. Gain insights from different experts in the field on current cultural strategies and practices for combating gentrification and displacement, and evaluation methodologies for program impact

4. Build a working document and provide recommendations for creative placemaking projects seeking to measure, evaluate, and report program success as it relates to combating gentrification & displacement
METHODS AND APPROACHES

1. Literature Review

Gentrification and Displacement

Gentrification:
“The process of neighborhood change that includes economic change in a historically disinvested neighborhood -- by means of real estate investment and new higher-income residents moving in -- as well as demographic change -- not only in terms of income level, but also in terms of changes in the education level or racial makeup of residents” (UDP, 2019).

Displacement occurs when any household is forced to move from its residence by conditions which affect the dwelling or immediate surroundings, and which:
1. are beyond the household’s reasonable ability to control or prevent;
2. occur despite the household’s having met all previously imposed conditions of occupancy; and
3. make continued occupancy by that household impossible, hazardous or unaffordable.

Creative Placemaking

In creative placemaking, public, private, not-for-profit, and community sectors partner to strategically shape the physical and social character of a neighborhood, town, tribe, city, or region around arts and cultural activities. Creative placemaking animates public, and private spaces, rejuvenates structures and streetscapes, improves local business viability and public safety, and brings diverse people together to celebrate, inspire, and be inspired. (Markusen & Gadwa, 2010 p.3)

IMPLICATIONS

Creative Placemaking Logic Model

- Built to address the specific needs unique to communities, and respond to the existing social and human capital, policies, local assets, and community development activities.
Creative Placemaking Criteria for Certification Process

- Ensures that CPM projects are not further contributing to gentrification and displacement
- Addresses problem of the unique set of local economic, physical, and or social challenges specific to locale
- Local community change outcomes
- Increased integration of arts, design, and cultural strategies across sector partnerships, leading economic, physical, and social change
RECOMMENDATIONS

1. Consult UDP interactive gentrification & displacement mapping to identify areas of high risk, and meet the needs of the community and stakeholder groups

2. Work in cross-sector partnerships and coalitions

3. Conduct annual combination of surveys and personal communication for program evaluation

4. Have all staff, volunteers, board members, and executive team complete a cultural competency assessment annually

5. Design programs and activities with the guidance of the Creative Placemaking Logic Model and or CPM Certification criteria
