Dr. Loddie Foose is healthcare executive who has worked across various strategies and operations leadership roles in healthcare industry as well as executive consultant. In her current role as the Global Director for New Products & Innovation at CSL Seqirus, she leads efforts to assess the evolving vaccine market landscape and implications for business investment decisions.

Loddie is the founder and Global Lead, Women in Healthcare Give Back, an affinity group within Healthcare Businesswomen’s Association (HBA) focused on leadership development. She did her PhD and Post-doctoral work in Chemical Engineering from UC Berkeley and Caltech and is former fellow of the National Science Foundation.

Friday, 20th Nov at 2 pm

Register to receive Zoom link:

https://bit.ly/3myQiDx