GERTRUDE STEIN

It is by their aid that they wish well
For this is what is now added
Could there be a wonder
She may think well
It is not known
In no time.
She may be thought.
It is more than idle
They may be caught close
Or which they think
Could they be relieved by them
It is often that they call it alike
Should she miss use and treasure
It is always best to be taught.
Think more than they will will
It is not why they ask
All which they have they can
It is often by themselves thoughtful
All which they come to have
It is ours to have ours known
All which they think
Might it be well on the chance
It is more likely in time
She will be nearly in their way
Should she leave the door open
If she could easily be influenced
Or for themselves
Or may they be always alike
Which it is lost
May they be left as courteous
She may be thought as well
Will she be told
Not if without their hold
Should it be nicely now
If it likes
By them.

BYRON A PLAY

But Which They Say Byron A Play

Act I

Byron
Yes Byron

Act II

Will she need me if they go too.

Act I and II

I think so.
Byron came himself to ask if he were not satisfied but believe me.

Act I

Byron is a queen

Act II

Indeed but two

Act III

It may do well not to be tall at all if not at most and so in Byron there are no changes which makes it do and now a theatre is a place. It arranges itself as a purse at most or a rest. At rest.

Act I

Byron may be as soon begun.
And nobody knows a name.
like that he had while he did not wait without it this makes a distance not only not but a play and so to say like that.
I wish I were
To wish two were
Or wish not what I wish
Two wish to were.
Byron a play he got it away.

Act I

I could be one with one of two
But it may do to do what one can do
For not for you to do but it is not gone where Make it be mine.
Byron can be anxious to wait he does not wait too.
He is occupied
He is not veritably concrete
For which they may be shown
Of not as well as sown
As he begins again
Byron a play to call Byron a play to call it Byron or to call it
Byron.
Byron come here.
Nobody called Byron come here if you can come Byron come here.
I do not have to wish to know that it is to say so.
A play is when there is not only not but also.
A play may not be removed.
We have just been with him seen.
Byron a play

Act I

It is the first time that Byron has dug not dug because he is not persistent but dug as is his history. He has been all called a color and silver which is not only not at all I cry out not with not at all.
May you think so.
Now a play oh a day by the day in a play
A play is this. They manage to stage this.
Stage this or just or join.

Anything will do for them or through. A play is made to date her or create her.
But it is Byron who had given up earth for wood.
Oh yes it is Byron who has given up earth for wood. He has not given up earth because of the grass and he has not chosen wood because of where he found it. I have often not thought of where he found it as I meditated upon a play. And now I know where he found it.
If it is as beautiful as it is if it is. As beautiful as it is a play is not but a play is.
I think I have steadily said yes.
This is a play
Yes I guess.
Byron a play.
No need to imagine a share in a play.
No not even to mean whatever they care to to have a play
Not even which if they care to to have a play
Just which way to they care to to have a play.
A play is this.
If a play is this does it make any difference if the air is there.
Or not.
A play does not depend upon what not
It depends upon the way a day is made to stay.
Oh yes you know you do.
And so which they have for their reason to care
This play is here
That play is there
Their play is where.
I wish I knew a play to run away
This play is to stay naturally.
Byron a play.
Anyway to-day.
I have remembered by observation that it is not peculiar to him to have that.
Byron a play.
Byron at play
Byron they play
Byron may play
A play so they say
Byron a play
I wish to say that I sit to a play
I also wish to say that a play is this.
Not will you say only.
Not only will you say this.
Because a play is this which makes it a play to play this.
Byron a play.
It happened that when they were here they liked it.

Act I

How many reasons are there for playing a play

Act I

A hill if it will
Oh yes a hill or if a hill will.
That makes the scenery as well as the sky or if I or if I a sky.
So much sooner.

Act I

Anything can be a play if they stand or sit to-day

Act I

It is very strange but anyway there is a difference between act one.

Act I

Is not undertaken not to be begun
For instance act one.
Byron a play

Act I

If you know how to say pansy.
Say pansies.
If you also know how to say pears.
Say pears
If you also know how to say well
Say well.
Byron was busily one.

Act I

I could know that if the sun shone
The birds would not sing.
Neither would Byron nestle
Neither would a play content itself.
Because to say to-day is not a play to-day.

Act I

Byron may be well if he is he will tell.
Byron one.
If they may take which they may make Or rather if.
And so Byron will come along
Let Byron think of this

Act I

Byron was happy when he was there.
He was happy when he was here
He was just as happy when he was here
And he was just as happy when he went there
And so in a minute there was no relief.
I have forgotten what I thought of plays
Because in a minute I was filled with anguish
Lost not at once if they went there
They would happen to think
That this was of no importance.

Act I

I love to love not wind but summer for the sake of Byron.
Or may he be for my sake all his for the name of Byron.
Byron is a play but when he wishes that they were there makes this as an enterprise.
How will Byron live.

Act I

I wish to say everything I know about a play a play can proceed not to widen.
An hour in a play is not to-day,
I have thought of a play.

The difference between a play and not a play is this a play states that if they like they will come and leave a day. This which is a rejoinder. In a play there is no rejoinder because in a play they never tried. And so they may.

What is a play to-day.
A play can be revealed by placing if in being higher they look again or if being not higher they do look again. This is often their thought necessary. On which accounting.

A play they know a play.
But not if they dovetail a play.
Five ducks leaning all make six.
This is a play. Byron is a play.
When will they come in is a play.
Imagine is a play.
A play is used to eat used it.
How can hours be a play but naturally it is
A Play Byron a play

Act I

Byron was brought when he came he drooped.

Act I

When he remained he felt well and remained to place where it chooses.

Scene I

He could Byron could.
Byron and called Byron
Byron will you come.
Of course he could not know a name but of course.
Just when they like Byron just when they like
And now a play is no play.

Act I

He should not have minded how many went when he sent coming again to say.
A play.
A play may even be called Byron.
Byron a play.
This is what there is to say about a play.
A play should not be seated
Nor need they be nervous or go
Nor need they be with or without speech
Or at least do it again.
In a play they must do it again
As much as yet and yes.
What is a play
Not to guess yes.

Act I

Byron may not be anxious or not if he is if not he is not a memory if remembered or if not if not he is not if not he is not if not remembered.
Oh may they be gracious to Byron.
But this is not so if they make a play.

Act I

A play is a day or not to say so I wish to make a play not a day or even not what happened but only not what is seen.
This is a play.
There can certainly be heard or said that it is never seen or heard of led they may be rejoined.
There is no reason why they should be refused.
Here and there is no play.
Or happily any day.
For which they remain to play
That they will which they may
May believe it to or may.
This which they say.
An act is a play.
In this way one act is not one play.
Two may be two acts or acts as they complete or . . . if not add once to a play.

Act I

Byron has run home.
Scene one
He has remained upstairs where he belongs if not allowed to descend in the meantime they will wish for the wish or half of it as if they were open to a frown for which they may like a denial of a memory more than they could which will in amount but which they share more than if most at most they will not bother to believe me.
Byron will be very often simply attached or left more than they wish this may be a play or which

Act I

Byron may be in union.

Scene I

May Byron be one one of one of one.
Or may Byron be one.
Thank you for pansies and thank you for thanking you for roses.

Scene I

To wish to be wished to add which to forget made Byron.
Or which rather which to add which to add wish to add forget or not forget to be not be but Byron this may be made into a mistake which if they wish or do wish to mistake.
What can be added to no play or well rather a play.
If not if they continue.
A play need not be made nor if not if they continue which they do not if not.
Add a place to continue.
A play is this they lose interest in moonlight if they look again also a play is this a place is this may they be which moreover they may add benefit to neglect.
What is the play or a play not in the meantime.
Or can they rather guess.
A play is this Byron if he wishes is no play
Nor either is Byron a play if in their play there is this with no wishes.
Admire or administer that there are made of which no wishes.
In this way they return to no play
A play is may be this

A Play
In this sense Byron is no play nor any more not by their time
What is a play or not.
He quietly attends to wishes,
In a way they blind or are blind in a day to play, or to a play not necessarily.
A play is this Byron may not do so as he means or by no means or as a means if they are Byron.
But despair is despair or care is care.
They need or a benefit or fairly more not even yet to need
Byron.
This cannot better plan a play.
What is a play or Byron

Scene I
Byron by this time had not met one.
One and one is not Byron
Nor may they relish
But better made as relish
For fairly well tell which Which whenever they used
But made it be at once
Their or there where they mean as won
Byron.
Byron may not need a play.
There is this to be understood if disturbed a play is not a play.

Scene I
Byron is not not only readily but added readily to as made in a way and so two people pleases but not only not pleases Byron and so not a play not even not a play but Byron which when they withstand.
This which I wish to know I do know

Scene I
I can clearly understand now what a play is.

Act I
They may proceed to winning.
They do not come in but being in and within they may be made to be in and within.
And so Byron challenges but not changes.
A play may be in speed indeed.
Which may not be why they like Byron.
It is easy to be well-known.

Act I
Let alone a play.

Scene I
It is not known as is it not curious she manages that without a place to mean that if they call.
Two makes a scene.
And when they prefer one
There may be in if in when in resolution.
How can you call it a play if they like however they like it together.
It is not a play if he rests.
They may more than they know.
Each in a little while in a little play but they they if they may do which if they may alike receive and regret not only which that much.

A play is made.
There can be never more than two to play exactly for which they might in their amount.
Not only why they like.
There can never be more than two to play.
One for one.
And it is might it be as with their opportunity as a chance.
Why can they not go farther with a play.
This is a reason which they like you either look or act if you are looking and acting and minding and as if not then resisting beside which they may rather go.
For which with which.
As much as with much
As much as it is.

Scene I
They may not been reminded of any one.
In one way one can act alone.
This may be due to pleasure or if they like it may be due to a pleasure.

Scene I
They will like what they like as they may prepare to deny that it is useless to try.
After all each one waits here.

Scene I
Byron will you come here or will you wait here or either then be with or without which is an addition to liveliness.
Of course which if they do.

Scene I
Byron
By run
They may
It is One.
By and by it is one

Scene I
Not while they like which is not really as the same why they like.

Byron

Byron A Play

Scene I
Little Byron.
As for the rest,
Little Byron may very well be
For the rest.
He is very lively when he is active.
Which makes a play

Act I
How did Byron like what he did.
He did not make any mistake in a swift movement.
Nor might they continue to believe it of them.
And this how this makes a play.

Scene I
If Byron made a change.
Or if it made no difference
Or rather if there was no help for it.
Or if indeed interest in it diminished.
Or if indeed rather
And if they met and waited
This is what it may not have as help
Very often in rocking Byron was or is nervous.
How can a play have it happen

Act I
A play is spelled spacious
It may have a waterfall.
It had better have it alone.
What is a play a play is more than if they did.
What is a play a play is pause or loss.
They need repeat a play to stay
But they will anxiously ask less.

Scene I
A play is mastered by which they arrange this.
Scene I
They come to differ at a distance
The impression differs that is to say
If they see them near
Or rather have they nearly left them.
In this way no opportunity is arranged for
But most is first and at last

Scene I
I wish now to say what the relation is of a play.
    To words
    Or not to words
Does he understand words
Or if he does not add to words
Does he if he should win delight
So that if all he might.
He should not call courage at once.
In this way I finally wish I wishes.
A play then may be a day without words Or indeed if they call at all they may call it a word with which they wish words were thirds.
It is best to come once at a time.
What I wish to say is that if he is not interested in speaking perhaps he is not interested in hearing not at all he is interested in either or a play.
This makes Byron a play say.
Now the other one thinks everything one because he thinks therefor no play thinks thinks.
This is why he fits and falls readily.
Now suppose either two make a play.
Byron a play.
They are not alike for which they look alike
Byron a play.

Act I
What I wish to say
Byron does not hear a play
If you look and look away

Scene I
I could I would I did.
There is a difference between.
For which they meant why they meant.
Believe it in I mean.
Byron comes in looking for an apple not looking for an apple because he has it.
No one has lost it he at least not at least at all.

Scene I
He has changed an apple for a pear and a pear for a stone not that he has changed one for one nor abandoned one or one it is not rather that not when it is in arrange arrange they will not add we to strange arrange he will be weeding soon oh yes not weeding soon. Who has been said that he has not spoken.
What is a play.
As he lies there he may.
They add a play a play.

Scene II
There may be many who add yet to yes.
If they feel as yes.
If they feel oh yes.
They may add this to is it.
Also they may be well considered.
I often ask do they believe that he sees what he feels.

Scene III
A play may be of grass.
A play may not be as neither one of two.
Or just why all they like.
Or may a play be three or at play
What is a play.
Byron a play.
Byron may not feel that it is as likely Byron.
Scene IV

Why should Byron not be left to know be left to know.

Scene V

To have been arranged to change four is to may they go.
Byron is not speaking.

Scene VI

Why should they may they be in a pleasure next.
I have abandoned no one.
But indeed they claim to change.
But indeed they need not be a plan to stage.
We have decided not in giving away but in going away.

Act II

May Byron be thought carefully to think as well of two.

Act I

Byron cannot commence with difficulty.

Scene I

I feel I know now what a play is there are many kinds of them.

Scene I

A play is this if born or not born whether with this.
This is a play that they stay if they may before or rather in their way. This makes a play without which they stay.
What is a play.
I like which they may.
If he lies there and watches as he gazes his attention is easily distracted.
Then after then he comes back again.

Scene I

It is not by this he feels as if he left.
What is a play. There is no nearer yesterday in a play.

Scene I

Byron chose in chooses one.
This may mean one or none.

Scene I

Could he look and see. In this is the essential of a play.

Scene II

They could they should and choose this makes no play.
Scene III

To return to a play.

Scene IV

Will they tell will they reach it. He reach it. Of course he will reach it. He has it.

Scene V

They may rather which they mind.
They follow too easily.

Scene VI

Beware of which they held.

Act I

What is a play as they could leave it here.
Clothed in white makes one play.
Clothed in black and outlined in tan makes another play each one equally serious. I should feel today an obligation.

Scene I

Why will Byron more.
Will he need length and strength as well. This is no play.
I know very well what is a play. I will not even presume to like hours alike.

Scene I

A play may called for which they stay.
Byron a play

Act I

A garden with a wall grapes growing on the wall of the house.
Byron gazing not at the grapes but at a stone and other things beneath the grape-vine. He leaves them. At the same moment no one hears though any one easily manages to be ready to be here.

By the time that they have looked at one another even though he might be ceases to be restless.

Scene I

It is not very easy to leave him then.
Nor might they be obliged to feel that there.
Is made no happening of leaving there.
They will contend
In often resting one in blue.
And one in black and tan.
And all in white.
He is not here to share.
No moments of remaining where.
The one in blue is resting on the ground.
After the church.
The one in black and tan is on the wall.
After the wood and stone.
After the wood and stone.
They will be seen as well
When we all look.

Scene II

Why should Byron be well named.

Act II

Byron.

Scene I

It makes easily be known that delicately is not with difficulty.

Scene I

Leave or let Byron lie in the sun on the stone.
Even if it is not a stone but only as if it were a stone which however it is it is a stone and Byron can lie in the sun on the stone as if the sun were setting but not set yet
Byron never dreams.
Has this to do with a play or has it not.
If in dreams. But excitement readily denies dreams and wondering and wandering mean sleep is awake and so they think that they mean that they will not cherish but cherish which is well of which.

Byron a play.
If in weakness can there be a play.
It is doubtful if in weakness there can be a play.
And so undoubtedly in weakness there is not a play.

Byron a play.
Not to-day
Byron a play.

Scene I

Byron does not speak but hears
Having forgotten whether it is better to know more than that if there were loss of more than none.
Would which they choose
Often there is no choice.
There is no help to which to lose.
May they come which they choose.
May they wish which they choose

Byron sleeping upon a stone hears no one.

Scene I

Byron sleeping upon a stone a little hears some one.
If not by rain then by water will one hope to wish that now they wish.

Byron has fled but will return and sleep again upon the stone.
He has not been interrupted but disturbed in which way he will.

A shadow of Byron falls upon the wall. He needs no one to defend him from the sun or the wall nor to disturb him.

Scene I

Do not walk away Byron.
Do not leave there to come here.
Do not refuse the sun for the shade
Or the shade for the sun
Scene III
That yesterday be followed all the day

Scene IV
And to-day

Scene V
He was not as ready as he had been

Scene VI
Not to go away.

Act I
He prepares something and not for some one.
He has been known to be when they went.
In view of that he does not play and stay
Nor does he play and remain away
Nor does he leave to add a way.
Not in any way is there an added way to stay
Byron
Come and stay.

Scene I
Byron has wished well of everything.
He has followed when he has been and has called.
Not easily to be added where
He was.

Act II
Byron now comes to be in the midst of ought.
They could learn could they will they.
They could learn
Will they not.
They also might reason
Which is lost is cost.
They could always succeed well.

BYRON A PLAY

This does not make a play.
Byron a play.
Byron has a wealth of wishes.
He wishes he were well.

Act I
Which he is in appetite and three white as a butterfly.
Three butterflies make four if they are white and Byron has no hope of any such attention he plans to add it then when resting.
Might they not know that noon has passed.

Act I
Venture to know a play.

Scene I
Why should they add.
A play not yet to-day.

Scene I
They must be weighted or wait.

Act I
There was once upon a time a place where they went from time to time.
I think better of this than of that
Of course you ask why had you no ball
Of course you ask at once or not at all
Byron

Act I
And now a little change
May make a day
But not a play.
Oh no or yes
Not a play
If any day
There is not either or
Or just a play.
Why did you if you do
Forget at all.
Why may they
Which if they may Exactly as exactly
Yet a play.
Byron a play
It makes it hesitate before a play
Or to be a play.
Once in a while
Oh once in a while.
Oh do or dear as dear
As once in a while.

Byron a play

Act I

I will not cease a play
Just when a play
Is not a play
To-day.
To-morrow we will see Basket.

Byron a play

Act I

Byron oh little soul.
When you are where you are Nobody stole.
Byron Byron who could and told
When it is not at all
That they could hold
Byron
I imagine a play.
He is not playing to-day
Byron.

Act II

He will come again
If he can come again.

Thursday he can come again
And be one of one
And then the play will come again
To be a play of come again Byron.

Scene I

May I know if I go.
Of course you may know if you go.
But may I know if I go
Of course you may as well know
If you go.
But if I go may I know
Not if you go
If you go you may know
But not if you go.
Byron may not know if he is to go.

Scene I

After waiting awhile he will not go.
It is often not only why they go.
It is better so
Remember not to go.
But not to go oh no
Byron will not welcome it to be so
Not now not when
To go.

Byron a play

Which is a day.
We will wait until Thursday
And imagine what is happening to-day
We hope nothing which is not only this.
Be sure Byron of a kiss,

Byron.

Scene I

I would like Byron to be here
Oh yes I would like Byron to be here
Scene II

If Byron were here
It would be a pleasure
To have him here
Byron.

Scene III

Not only would he be here
But it would be a pleasure
That he could be here
Byron.

Scene IV

Once well of Byron
Byron will be well
Not only Byron Byron well
But well Byron
A well Byron.
Byron which it is well to have Byron
Here

Scene V

They may a play of Byron

Act II

No one can change
Not no one can change
Hair for hair
Or rather please or care
Which when they may Have better than
The time to-day
He came away
Byron

Scene I

How often often have I thought
Which would I rather know
Would I rather know that a Basket can be bought
Or if at once I Byron or be thought
Be rather thought than old
Or caught or can be sold
Byron among the thieves
Not the thieves but which When generally the thieves
May be joined thief to thief
Or chief to chief
For which they called they said
For which they called they said
Not only why Byron
Not only if led.
Byron can be frightened but not said
To be Byron

Scene I

It happened to come that he went away among more than he knew.
He would not he knew be welcome
But which once more made no one doubt.
That he knew
Two from one.
Byron
Come here Byron
But by and by Byron
Busily if emptily with two with one
Byron.

Scene I

It is acceptable that a scene is better than anything.
And now I have lost two in one.
Byron.
Once upon a time a visitor came and he said that he was welcome.
He wished to be angry and he was.
The occasion was one
By no means one and one.
By the time all were here they were welcome.
They may be thought to be welcome.

Scene I
If no one knew his name was Byron.

Scene I
Are you sure his name was Byron
George Byron.
He was not angry when his name was
George Byron.
Not at all angry when his name was.
George Byron.
No one named George is angry
When his name is named
George Byron.
If not.
I wish I knew why they wished it to be so.
Now I know.

Scene II
Byron is settled down and if loving to sun.

Scene III
Byron may be enclosed by a passage.

Scene I
While Byron was wondering if at once one and one.
Under which change
Need it less than at first
Oh not if you need or instead of under
This is my mistake.
But which they will welcome now
Yet or yesterday and why they will
Raised as much as if they changed the place
Ours are not without a change
Not for which they like

Byron

Scene I

Byron I request you not to be fastidious in coming again fortunately.
It is very fortunate that you have found such a happy home.

---

Act I

She might be thought to think again that she had not mentioned to him that he had done it again.

---

Scene I

She found excuses for him that is to say not to say but to do and not only not to do but to feel and not only not to feel but to caress and not only not to caress but to hold and not only not to hold but as well.

Byron does not answer not only angrily but as often as disturbed.

If disturbed they will attack less that is if he snarls and much as they may do if I do if he snarls. Should a distant nearly found as not as distance when they mean to like alike.

By which they will if all they need is care.

Let us think often of a name.
Byron May be called Byby.
May he not be angry.
Not only may he be angry but very angry.
Or rather had he not thought Not only why he wished but if.
Act I Scene III

Should they mind if they thought as well as they thought about it.

Byron runs and comes.
Byron says that which he knows is anger.
And why should Byron be angry.
Because he is disturbed and awakened.

Act I Scene IV

It may be fortunate that the scene changes

Scene V

Those which they like they like not only when they reach out or it but when they feel that they will finish quickly.
And they end so that they may begin
What is a height
A height is where they are put
And so Byron waits or is helped down or descends
Differently here from there.

Act II

He resembled so many animals a deer a cat a fox a hound.
The little boy said a kangaroo.
The little girl said see the two of them one along side of the other.
Not any more than two.
A great deal of water came through.
One of the two.

Act I Scene I

Byron left at home was not saddened by this circumstance alone if he cried, crying can be a song and singing may not be bereft of left.

Byron not being left was not left to be alone.
And so he was not followed.
By which they plan
That they will be

For him rashly
Seen as where
Up there
Higher
Much which
They could include
Not only now as food.
Byron could contentedly sit.
If he climbed
For which at once
They could allow.
That excellence is most.
Might Byron be a baronet.
Or better yet.
As better
Met.

Scene II

Byron is often alone in a scene but not in a place it may be said that he is practically never alone in a place and it is more often as well to be at once and foremost which they mean by an avowal.

That he came when he ran
Fear can be in three places
Fear of yes
Fear of not yet
Fear of felt it as fear.
And so he came here
Not of his own volition
But once here
Accustomed to being here
With much enjoyment
To himself as well
This does not make Byron cautious with restraint.

Scene II

May I like to know when Byron's birthday is but it is not known.
Scene III

I like Byron he likes me
Byron will or will not be
With me.
Think of Byron.
She appreciates Byron
Not foolishly but as if foolishly.
Byron is settled as a settlement will
Byron
Come here Byron.

Scene III

It was not a surprise that he cries
Nor indeed that he tries.
Which he does very well.

Scene IV

Why should Byron resemble him
Which he did.
Nor why should Byron cast shadows of himself
Which he does.
And interferes with the light
Which he does.
But does not destroy
Nor even damage
So adroitly as he comes to and fro
Which is not an amusement nor an amazement
But suddenly to understand.
Gnawing at it instead of adroitly squeezing past it.
Oh why should Byron be so gracious
If he is badly spoiled.

Scene V

Byron may mistake himself for himself all the time.

Scene VI

And so poor Byron is suffering

Scene VII

As besides he is ill.
And must eat bread alone
And must eat bread alone.
Not the kind of bread he has eaten.

Scene VII

All of which has not been decided to-day.

Act III

A great deal of frightening may divide Byron

Scene I

Should they be anxious to please be everything.
And having left to come
To leave it here.
Not only not startling
But not annoying
And not displeasing
Now some decision has been taken.

Scene II

Who uses Byron or one two.
In this act Byron has been put in to his place.
And what is his place
What is the place of Byron.

Scene III

Richly believe that he is will he be.
Renewed and put where he is or will he be.
Byron.

Scene IV

One two three when they call Byron.

Scene V

No they will not.
Scene VI
In this long scene Byron soliloquizes.
No one can say that a soliloquy is addressed to the world.
And of course it is.
Much less of course it is.

Scene VI
Byron could be careful to drink milk.
Any Byron could be careful to drink milk without salt.
Oh yes with tears or without tears any Byron could drink milk.

Byron.
Why do or does Byron drink milk without tears.
Why does Byron drink milk without salt.
Why does he turn angrily.
Because he has been left with it.

Scene VII
Byron Byron Byron.

Scene VIII
I could if I felt like it stay here.

Act III
As much Byron as she liked.
Byron was born Byron.
He calls as if he came.
And so without any doubt he may.

Scene I
Byron never sits and thinks he neither sits nor thinks. Byron.
If he rests he warms himself not by reflection but by need.
Warmth is a pleasure and a necessity to Byron.
He listens and waits while he waits
And never leaving never rests.
Sleep does not rest Byron because he does not wait to sleep.

BYRON A PLAY

They may be said Byron they may be said to need what they need. Byron.
That is very strange I heard her say quiet.

Scene I
Byron was waiting to run.
Byron was not waiting for the morning.
The morning having come.
Oh Byron come. The morning and the evening for waiting has not come for Byron.

They may also make a mistake in fondling Byron.
If he is defeated he is accepted but he is not defeated and accepted.
Byron has no choice in falling.
He falls when another rises.
This happens naturally.
As being dependent upon being seated.
If the one seated rises Byron falls.

Scene V
There is but there has not been an illusion of Byron.
Act IV

We widen was it.
Byron.

Scene I

Byron. I love not cold nor freezing.

Once more I hear paper moving.
But whether which have more Byron.
Byron hears me hear Byron.
Byron asks for may be not be higher.
Than they name hanging.
If anything hangs in front of him
It is disconcerting.

Scene II

Byron by and by Byron.

Scene II

By by Byron.

Scene IV

Or be Byron.

Scene V

Scene I

Byron has may be not made a name
But a name has been given to him.
The name given to him has been Byron
Or whether a name which is Byron is given,
He does not ask give me the name Byron.
He only says if you call Byron I am coming

Scene II

More than which may be they do which.
Byron.

He would wait backing.
Oh yes Byron.

Act VI
If she knew how old Byron was she knows how old Byron is.

Scene I
Part of the time in which Byron rests although he trembles he is not restless.

Scene II
If moreover Byron is placed where he is to be rested he may not protest because he inquires but not enough.

Scene III
If in waiting he does not pray to wait this is because of their place there where they have placed him.

Scene IV
But which of which does he know.

Scene V
They must be as much stranger.
Oh Byron will you come.
Come Byron come.
There is need that you come.

Scene VI

Byron Even when it is not given to him.
Byron. He will take it.
Byron He moves quickly.
Byron In taking it.
Byron Oh yes.
Byron And he is punished for it.
Byron As much as ever as quickly.

is not possible for any one.
Byron think which is the same as a varied speech but not for which they thought.
Byron they may or they may not be mistaken but Byron is not mistaken Byron is not mistaken for any other one nor need he be mistaking anything for anything or any other one and so Byron.

Scene I

Byron. May we be left to any one.
Byron. Or waiting with no misgiving.
Byron. Or Byron with Byron waiting.
Byron. And waiting for any one.
Byron. Is not angry when he is waiting.
Although he seems so when he is waiting.
Byron. Is not angry when he is leaving.
Byron. Is angry when he is looking.
Byron. Is not angry but with him when he is to leave a place not a person but a place. Not a person but a place.

This may make it as seeming.
That Byron was lying leaning.
And a foot had that attention
From which not only which to mention.
That they will ask after they answer
No in no way if they look well
Do they see that he could dwell
Except in seeking warmth and heating
Which they can call

Better manage can call.

LISTEN TO ME

1936

A PLAY

There are three characters.
The first one says. No noun is removed.
The second one says. Forget the air.
The first one says. But you need the air.
The third one says. For has nothing to do with get.

They giggle.
And then they are not through with three.
And then they are solemn and they know that the world will.
If they know that the world will.
It is not used that they need where.

Three characters.
There are always more than three characters because air is where.

Now I ask you if you listen to me do you say as air is there.
And so no longer three characters but all who are there say this.

Listen to me
A soliloquy

There is any day not what they say there is a man there and it is well done. If he likes it or not it is well done. They like to know that it is well done. That is what a man is they like to know that it is well done. What is it that a man is a man is that they like to know that it is well done. If it is not well done he is dead and they like to know that he is dead if it is well done. That is the one thing that there is that now that he is dead and that it is well done.

If three characters are in the play is it in the way.
No more than four characters ever go away.
A chorus of three characters and then a chorus of four characters but the characters that are the three characters are not the same characters as the characters that are four characters.
