

Resources for Pregnant and Parenting Students

The University of Chicago does not discriminate, or tolerate discrimination, on the basis of any protected status – including pregnancy, childbirth, or related conditions, or on the basis of parental status.

Students may take a leave of absence for pregnancy, childbirth, or a related medical condition. The University will reinstate the student to the status they held prior to the leave. Students who wish to take a leave of absence should contact their area dean of students.

There are resources available at the University of Chicago for pregnant or parenting students, including the following:

Area Dean of Students

Area Dean of Students should always be one of the first stops as students navigate the wide variety of offices and programs across the University. Students who may need to take a leave of absence related to pregnancy, childbirth, or parenting should first contact their Dean of Students.

For more information about academic support available for graduate student parents, please see the Graduate Student Parent Policy.
