What Faculty, Other Academic Appointees, Staff, and Postdoctoral Researchers Need to Know

- Title IX and the University Policy on Harassment, Discrimination, and Sexual Misconduct
- Responsible Employees
- Confidential Resources
- University Disciplinary Processes
- Interim Protective Measures and Accommodations

Title IX and the University Policy on Harassment, Discrimination, and Sexual Misconduct

- Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex in education programs and activities operated by recipients of federal financial assistance, like the University of Chicago. This includes all forms of sex discrimination against program participants, including sexual assault, sexual abuse, sexual harassment, dating violence, domestic violence, and stalking (referred to here as “sexual misconduct”).

- The University is committed to taking necessary action to stop, prevent, and remedy instances of sexual misconduct.

- Individuals who have experienced any form of sexual misconduct are not obligated to engage with University offices or respond to institutional outreach regarding the matter. In some instances the University may need to move forward based on information already received. If this occurs, the individuals involved will be notified.

- Reporting an incident to a Title IX Coordinator is private and does not mean the person who experienced the incident somehow loses control of the process. Individuals may choose not to move forward with the disciplinary process and may still request support services and/or accommodations.

- The University prohibits retaliation against any person who exercises any rights or responsibilities under the policy.

- In certain situations, the University may have an institutional obligation to respond to a report of sexual misconduct. If a complainant asks that the University refrain from investigating, the investigator, in consultation with the Title IX Coordinator for the University, will consider how to proceed, taking into account the complainant’s wishes, the University’s obligation to provide a safe and non-discriminatory environment, and the respondent’s right to have specific notice of the allegations and an opportunity to be heard if the University were to take action that affects them. If the Title IX Coordinator determines that the institution has an obligation to move forward, the complainant will be notified.

Responsible Employees

University employees not designated as Confidential Resources are considered Responsible Employees. Responsible Employees must report all incidents of sexual misconduct to a Title IX Coordinator. Responsible Employees include faculty and other academic appointees, resident assistants, resident heads, resident deans, TAs, deans of students, athletic coaches, UCPD staff, and University staff. Responsible Employees are required to report all incidents of sexual misconduct to a Title IX Coordinator even if the person making the report asks them to keep the information confidential.

University Disciplinary Processes

When sexual misconduct occurs, the University has disciplinary processes in place to investigate and, when warranted, adjudicate complaints.

Complaints about students:

Jeremy Inabinet, Associate Dean of Students in the University for Disciplinary Affairs, can discuss the process with any person who wishes to make a complaint or is considering making a complaint about a student. He can be reached at inabinet@uchicago.edu or 773.702.5243. For more information about disciplinary procedures in relation to sexual misconduct, see: studentmanual.uchicago.edu/university_dicip_system

Complaints about faculty, other academic appointees, postdoctoral researchers, and staff members:

Bridget Collier, Associate Provost for Equal Opportunity Programs and Title IX Coordinator for the University, or her designee, can discuss the process with any person who wishes to make a complaint or is considering making a complaint about faculty, other academic appointees, postdoctoral researchers, staff members, or others. She can be reached at bcollier@uchicago.edu or 773.834.6387.

The University of Chicago strictly prohibits retaliation of any kind against any person involved with the reporting, investigation, and/or adjudication of alleged violations of the Policy on Harassment, Discrimination, and Sexual Misconduct.
