What Students Need to Know

- Title IX and the University Policy on Harassment, Discrimination, and Sexual Misconduct
  - Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex in education programs and activities operated by recipients of federal financial assistance, like the University of Chicago. This includes all forms of sex discrimination against program participants, including sexual assault, sexual abuse, sexual harassment, dating violence, domestic violence, and stalking (referred to here as “sexual misconduct”).
  - The University is committed to taking necessary action to stop, prevent, and remedy instances of sexual assault, sexual abuse, sexual harassment, dating violence, domestic violence, and stalking (referred to here as “sexual misconduct”).
  - Individuals who have experienced any form of sexual assault, sexual abuse, sexual harassment, dating violence, domestic violence, and stalking (referred to here as “sexual misconduct”) are not obligated to engage with University offices or respond to institutional outreach regarding the matter. In some instances the University may need to move forward based on information already received. If this occurs, the individuals involved will be notified.
  - Reporting an incident to a Title IX Coordinator is private and does not mean the person who experienced the incident somehow loses control of the process. Individuals may choose not to move forward with the disciplinary process and may still request support services and/or accommodations.
  - Retaliation of any kind is strictly prohibited for either party involved with the reporting and adjudication of incidents.

- University Disciplinary Processes
  - The University has disciplinary processes in place to investigate and, when warranted, adjudicate sexual assault, sexual abuse, sexual harassment, dating violence, domestic violence, and stalking (referred to here as “sexual misconduct”). Jeremy Inabinet, Associate Dean of Students in the University for Disciplinary Affairs, or his designee, can discuss the processes with any person who wishes to make a complaint or is considering making a complaint about a student. He can be reached at inhabinet@uchicago.edu or 773.702.5243. Bridget Collier, Associate Provost and Title IX Coordinator for the University, or her designee, can discuss the processes with any person who wishes to make a complaint or is considering making a complaint about faculty, other academic appointees, postdoctoral researchers, staff members, or others. She can be reached at bcollier@uchicago.edu or 773.834.6367.

- Interim Protective Measures and Accommodations
  - Students who have reported sexual assault, sexual abuse, sexual harassment, dating violence, domestic violence, and stalking (referred to here as “sexual misconduct”) have the right to request interim protective measures and/or reasonable accommodations, including but not limited to:
    - Changes to academic, living, dining, working, or transportation situations
    - Obtaining and enforcing a University-issued no contact directive
    - Assistance in obtaining an order of protection or no contact order in State court
    - Medical assistance (including information on preserving evidence)
    - Legal/law enforcement options (including assistance with notifying local law enforcement)
    - Safety planning
    - On- and off-campus referrals and resources
    - Assistance with accessing and navigating campus and local health and mental health services, counseling, and advocacy
    - Referral to the disciplinary process
    - Having their report recorded and tracked

- Responsible Employees
  - University employees not designated as Confidential Resources are considered Responsible Employees. Responsible Employees must report all incidents of sexual assault, sexual abuse, sexual harassment, dating violence, domestic violence, and stalking (referred to here as “sexual misconduct”) to a Title IX Coordinator. Responsible Employees include faculty and other academic appointees, resident assistants, resident heads, resident deans, TAs, deans of students, athletic coaches, UCPD staff, and University staff. Responsible Employees are required to report all incidents of sexual assault, sexual abuse, sexual harassment, dating violence, domestic violence, and stalking (referred to here as “sexual misconduct”) to a Title IX Coordinator even if the person making the report asks them to keep the information confidential.

- Confidential Resources
