

Verification of High School Completion 2020-2021

Your Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) was either selected for a review process called "Verification" or you answered "none of the above" to the high school completion question on the FAFSA. As a result, we must verify your high school completion status and compare it to the information you provided on your FAFSA. If there are differences between your FAFSA and the documents you provide, we will make the corrections electronically. If you do not complete this verification process, you forfeit federal student aid eligibility.

Provide one of the following documents indicating your high school completion status as of the start of the 2020-2021 academic year.

I am attaching the following:

- A copy of my high school completion
- A copy of my final official high school transcript that shows the date when the diploma was awarded.
- A copy of my General Education Development (GED) certificate or GED transcript.
- An academic transcript that indicates I successfully completed at least a two-year program that is acceptable for full-credit toward a bachelor's degree.
- A secondary school completion credential for homeschool (other than a high school diploma or its recognized equivalent) because it's required by my State of residence.
- A transcript, or equivalent, signed by my parent's or guardian, that lists the secondary school courses I completed and documents my successful completion of a secondary school education in my homeschool setting because my State of residence does not require homeschooled students to obtain a secondary school completion credential.

I certify that the information provided above is complete and correct.
